Time To Reflect

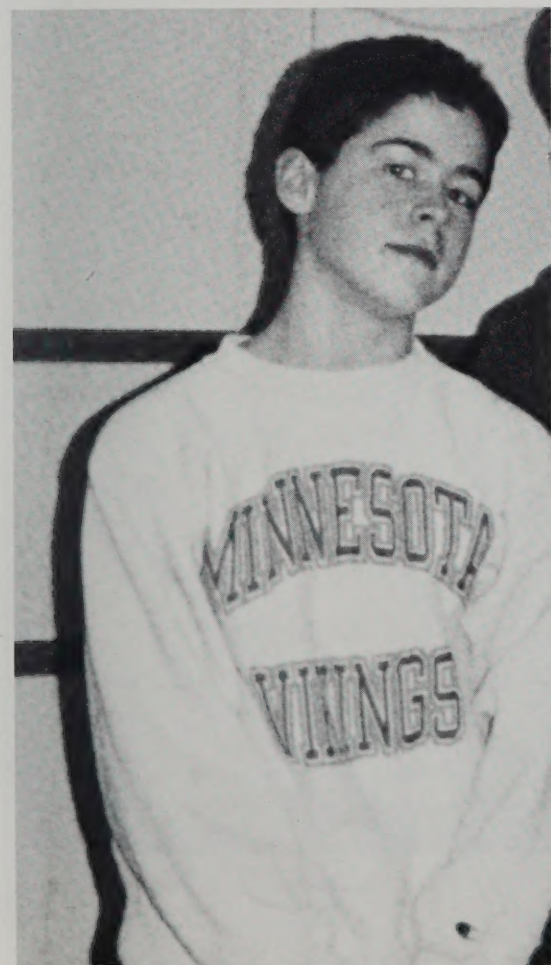

TIME TO REFLECT

As the class of 1994 says goodbye to L.H.S. and moves on to the future, we should not forget all the times we have shared at Leominster High school. We came here as freshmen frightened at what we were to encounter over our four long years at Leominster High. As we encounter the final days of our exciting senior year, the memories we have will remain in our hearts forever. As the editors, we hope that this yearbook will reflect on the fond memories you have made at L.H.S.

The Editors,
Christina Ciccone &
Wendy Plourde

The 1994 Magnet Is Dedicated To Mary V. Balducci

Mrs. Balducci, her daughter Julia, and her son Anthony. Right. Mr. and Mrs. Mario Balducci

On Sunday, we all went to the wake. I saw Mrs. Kogut and went to her. I knelt down at the coffin and knew I had to say good-bye but my mind went blank and I didn't know what to say. It didn't seem real to me, I thought I would walk into school Monday morning and she would be there.

I left soon after that and didn't say much on the way home, but had made plans to go to the funeral on Monday afternoon. I went home that night feeling kind of lost. I decided to give Mrs. B. a quarter. A quarter was a joke between her and myself. One afternoon around October she asked me for a quarter, and I gave her one. Well from that moment on we had a big joke. I would ask her for a quarter and she would ask me for a quarter. She even asked me to bring a roll of quarters to the Junior Prom just in case she needed one. I felt like I really had to give her a quarter. On Monday afternoon I left and went to the funeral.

When I got to the church I sat there, I just listened and kept Mrs. B.'s quarter pressed into my hand. When they brought out the coffin I didn't cry, I just couldn't.

When I went outside I decided to go to the burial. I really wanted to go so that I could give her the quarter that I felt I desperately needed to give her.

When I arrived at the cemetery I got out of the car and walked toward the grave site. As I approached, a man was handing out flowers to the people who stood there. The family said a few words and then every one started placing the flowers on the coffin. I hesitated to put the flower down, but when I did I also placed the quarter into the coffin that was impressed into my hand all afternoon. As soon as I placed the quarter on the coffin a flood of tears swept over me and I began to cry.

Mrs. Raymond

It's been a real pleasure to work with the Class of '94. We've always felt very lucky to have such wonderful officers and hard-working students.

As a class, we have always strived to be nothing but the best. And we all know that is what we are "the best". With every opportunity, we have always achieved the maxium. In all our activities we have worked with finesse, from the Awards Ceremony to Proms and of course our awesome Thanksgiving Rally.

We want to extend a special thank you to the class officers of '94 and all past officers. We certainly have had some memorable times together.

Class of '94 the memories that you have created will always be in our hearts. Your smiles and faces will never be forgotten. We wish you nothing but happiness, success, and the fulfillment of all your dreams. We are proud to have known you. We are looking forward to many successful class reunions in the years to come.

Love,
Mrs. Carolyn Kogut
Mrs. Betty Ann Raymond

Class Officers

Four years ago, the class of 1994 entered Leominster High School with the hope of making a mark. Through the years we have succeeded in doing so. Our class has always come together and worked as one in order to accomplish things. By working together, we were able to create a Class Trip and a Junior and Senior Prom that will be in many of our memories for the rest of our lives. We have not only been successful as a group, but also as individuals.

Many people in the class of 1994 have made their marks in academics, athletics, arts, and music. The incredible talents found in our class will be a sure reason for us to be in many memories.

Our class has also watched each other grow. Through the years, we have seen people changing with the times. Some friendships were lost, but many ties grew stronger. Now, as we face the end of our days at Leominster High School, the knowledge we have gained, both academically and socially, will be our tools in order for us to excel in every aspect of life. Our mark has been made and it will always remain. Good luck in all your futures.

Sincerely,

Mansa Delisle - Pres.
Kelly Proctor - V. Pres.
Lori Leblanc - Treas.
Jen Koroskenyi - Sec.

Still Crazy After All These Years

Justin was such a cutie!

The days when the girls wore no makeup

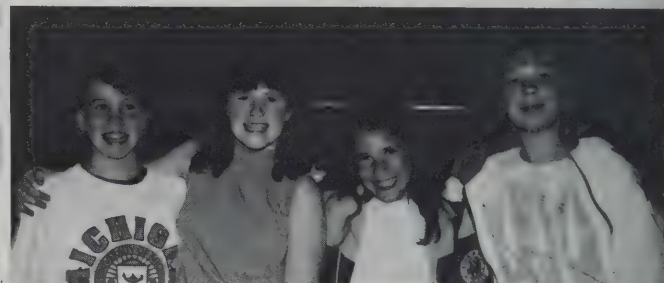

Colleen and Titia smile for the camera

Scott was a "big" stud

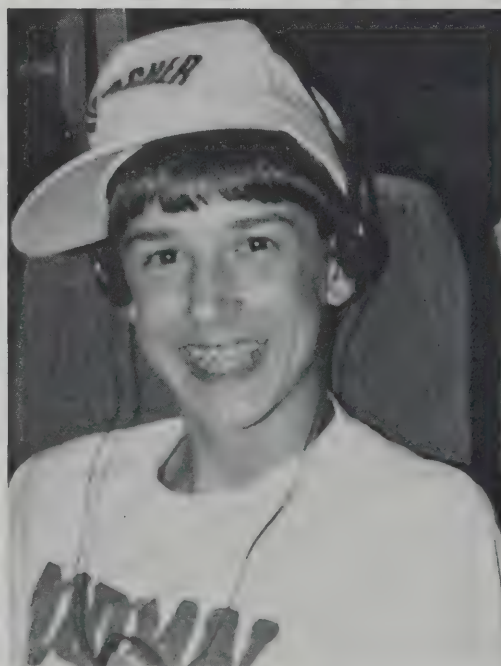

May A. Gallagher Junior High School—It was here that we all joined together to form so many lasting friendships and special memories that will remain with us always.

These four girls are having so much fun

Bryan and Liz . . . first love . . . how sweet!

Left: Alright, Steve, what are you up to now?
Above: What's the matter Kelly?

Have Marisa, Liz, and Michelle always been joined at the hip?

Don't look so thrilled Jill!

Matt and Tommy show off their wicked cool party hats

Our class clowns were even gigglers back then

Corey looked so innocent back then . . . what happened?

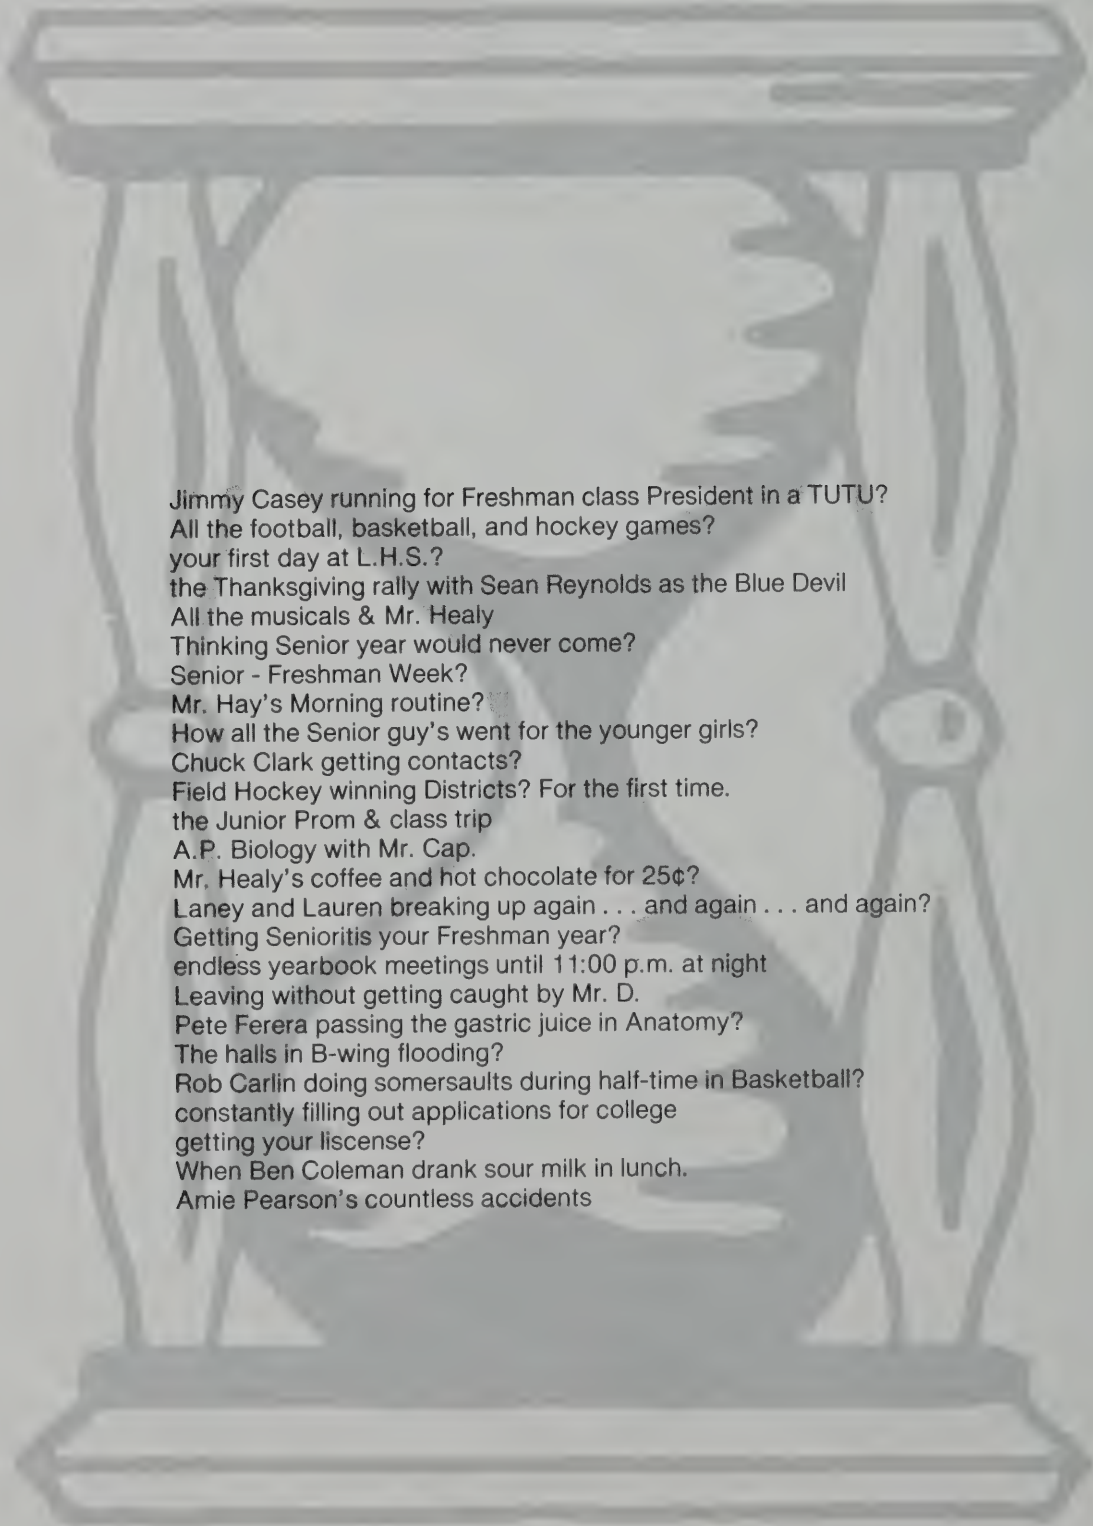

Shawn, Bryan, Steve, & Ben strike a pose

Amie & Todd . . . all these years later we still can't figure out how she got her bangs to stay up so high Remember . . .

Jimmy Casey running for Freshman class President in a TUTU?
All the football, basketball, and hockey games?
your first day at L.H.S.?
the Thanksgiving rally with Sean Reynolds as the Blue Devil
All the musicals & Mr. Healy
Thinking Senior year would never come?
Senior - Freshman Week?
Mr. Hay's Morning routine?
How all the Senior guy's went for the younger girls?
Chuck Clark getting contacts?
Field Hockey winning Districts? For the first time.
the Junior Prom & class trip
A.P. Biology with Mr. Cap.
Mr. Healy's coffee and hot chocolate for 25¢?
Laney and Lauren breaking up again . . . and again . . . and again?
Getting Senioritis your Freshman year?
endless yearbook meetings until 11:00 p.m. at night
Leaving without getting caught by Mr. D.
Pete Ferera passing the gastric juice in Anatomy?
The halls in B-wing flooding?
Rob Carlin doing somersaults during half-time in Basketball?
constantly filling out applications for college getting your liscense?
When Ben Coleman drank sour milk in lunch.

Rob, Your so cute!

After this I think I'll give my girlfriend a manicure.

Not me, I'm not ready yet.

Great, they have me doing all the work.

Auto Mechanics

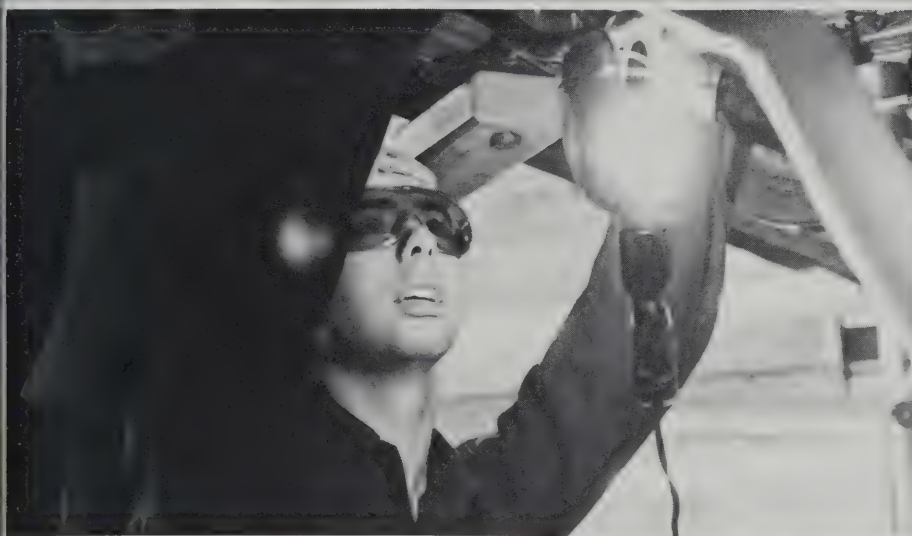

"Boy, Those seniors are really cool"

O.K. Where's the fan belt?

(Left) Stuck in the end again.

Nurse, clamp, $\frac{3}{4}$ open end and cross your fingers.

Come on I only have two hands ya know.

Carpentry

Corey showing his expertise at the house job.

What was the name of that hurricane?

Sure hope it doesn't rain.

Look, I can hold it with one hand.

Computer Tech

I wonder if I'm putting these in the right order.

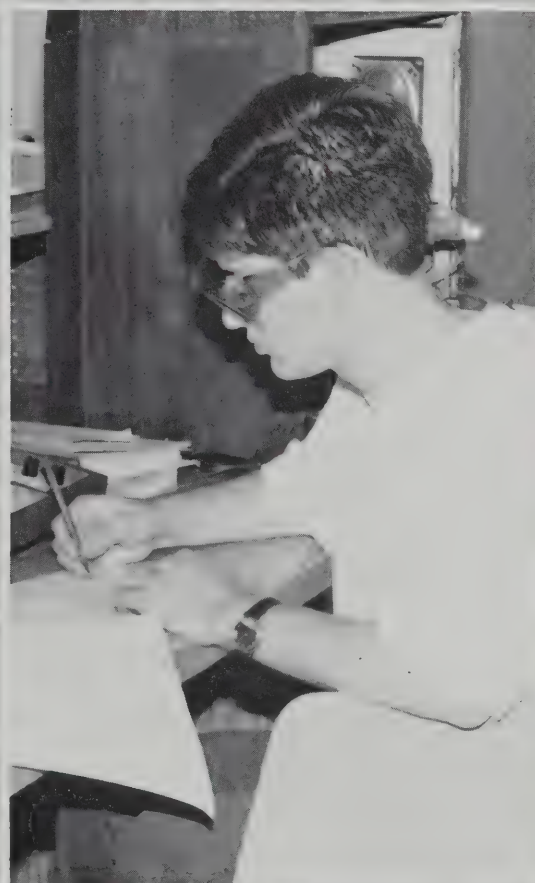

Don't you just love my smile?

Stop daydreaming and get to work.

If I could only read this thing, it's so confusing.

These glasses are so annoying.

Culinary Arts

Tony Garcia, Luis Colon Demostrando que estan trabajando fuerte.

Doris "Cat eyes" Shawn "Lemme' see!"
Eddie "Shhh! I hear something!"

Luis - Nice teeth! Eddie loves Tony.

"Let me check if the chicken is dead yet."

Drafting

Welding

Make sure you have your shield on at all times.

Hooray! I'm finally doing it right.

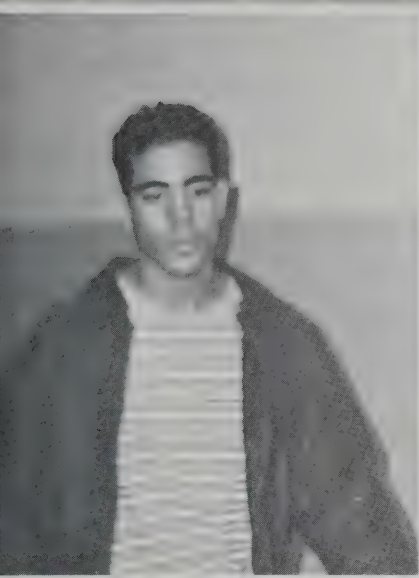

Aren't these the best seniors that you have ever seen?

I hope I have the right equipment.

Candid

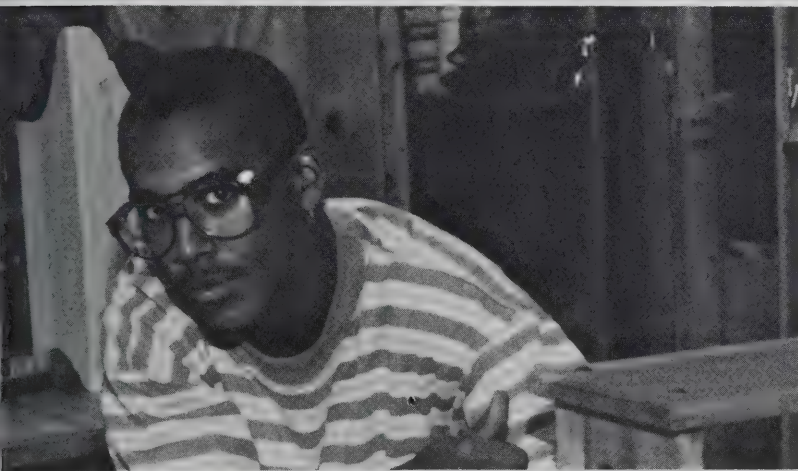

Dont! mess with me!

Jim- "Can I Go now?"

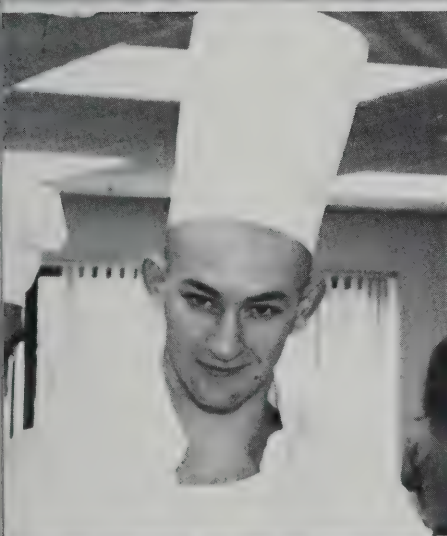

Jim, stop gazing at Tony.

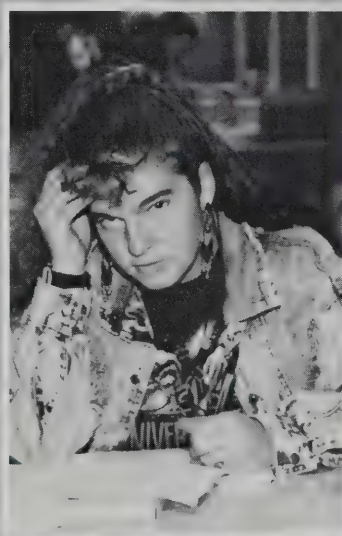

Why you looking at me?

Hey, kids aren't supposed to be touching those

Let's hear it for the Juniors.

Friends will last forever.

What's wrong, Scott?

Here I come baby, I'm coming to get ya!!

Hello, my name is Clark Kent.

Ouch, don't eat my finger, that hurts!

Hi, I'm Jamie and I'm cool.

MUTH!!!

Cheese!!

You are so silly.

Back to Woodstock.

Is there something wrong, Gary?

You look so bored.

You can't leave now. School is not out yet.

Lunchtime!

How's the candy cane, Jen?

Good buddies.

Este clase esta muy aburrido.

Constipated?

Steve, doing neck warmups.

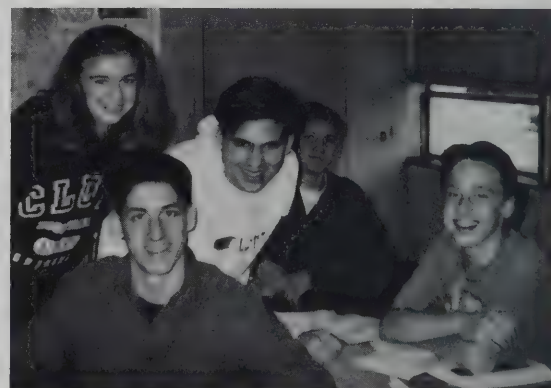

C'mon, say cheese!

You guys are squishing me, says Ellen.

Look at me, I'm a star!

Jorge, you can come a little closer.

Do you like seafood?

We got you now, Mr. Stef.

Chabre, smile!

Is that camera on?

Peek-a-boo!

Lunch buddies.

Hurry up with that cheat sheet, Kim.

Lookin' good.

As close as friends can get.

We're all tied up.

Friends forever.

Foreign Language

Students taking Latin IV are given the opportunity to learn about life in ancient Rome by translating the works of such authors as Ovid and Martial. Latin IV is a fun class to take because students must be actively involved. They are always putting on a play or puppet show. Students are even given the opportunity to design their own project. Although Latin is a dead language, it is certainly a lively class. - Krista Beauvais, Latin IV student.

Spanish is one of the most common languages used in the United States second only to English. Leominster High School offers a fine Spanish program and Spanish V is the highest level currently offered and is taught by Senor DeLuca. We perfect our knowledge from Spanish I-IV and expand upon certain areas, especially vocabulary. Reading comprehension and composition are also highly stressed. Spanish V can also enable students to skip the foreign language requirement in most colleges, by demonstrating their skill on a CLEP or other exam. Most of all, it's fun. - Bryan Sohayda, student Spanish V

French V is the highest level to which the French students at LHS can advance. Our class is taught by Mr. Rheault and consists of seniors who have taken French since the seventh grade. During this year, we have sharpened our conversational skills, and read French literature such as Le Petit Prince and pursued our study of vocabulary and complex verb forms. During the week of April vacation, many of the French V students will be going to France in order to experience the language and culture first hand. The trip helps to reinforce the classroom knowledge and has given all of us strong roots in the language as well as the motivation to continue studying French in college. - Kelly Davis, student French V

Advanced

A.P. Physics

Advanced Placement Physics helps students prepare for college level work in physics and engineering. Graduates from LHS A.P. Physics consistently report superior preparation and a more enjoyable experience at competitive colleges throughout the country. Over 90% of LHS students pass the A.P. exam in physics and this can sometimes save students a great deal of time and money later in college.

George Whittemore - teacher A.P. Physics, 16 years

A.P. Chemistry

Advanced Placement Chemistry expands upon the topics introduced in the prior chemistry classes and prepares the A.P. chem student for the A.P. exam. Taught for three years by Mr. Siemaszko, the course is based upon a first year college chemistry course, thereby allowing the students the opportunity to experience a college course while still in high school. In addition, the course includes several key laboratories enabling the student to not only be "book smart", but also allowing them to apply their knowledge in a practical application.

"All real scientists need chemistry!"
Mr. Siemaszko

"It's a rip-roar'n good time!" Meg
Greene

A.P. Biology

In depth. Everything that was covered before is covered in depth. Where we learned about cell parts before, now we learn each of their components as well. Chemistry also plays a larger role in A.P. Biology. We learn how the individual chemicals cause the functioning of the biological processes. From frogs in biology 1, we have progressed to DNA analysis and manipulation. Most of all, we are learning material which we will be able to use in college and in our careers.

Thomas Sean Myer - A.P. Biology student

Placement Classes

A.P. Calculus

Advanced Placement Calculus is both a challenging and enjoyable course. Teaching the fundamentals of calculus, Mrs. Hynes instills a hard work ethic and love of learning in her students. The hard work throughout the year pays off because students are well prepared for the A.P. Calculus test. They are also ready for the challenges of advanced mathematics in college. Although it is beneficial to take A.P. calculus, as C.J. Gelinas said, "it can at times be more demanding than Paris Island." Right: A.P. Calculus

A.P. English

There are two sections of A.P. English this year. Why are so many people taking it? The answer is experience. Students need a strong background in English skills today more than ever before, and A.P. English supplies this needed knowledge. From grammar skills, to great literary works, to detailed analyses, the class is comprehensive. Students are also able to relate information from other classes to the reading selections. Writing skills are stressed the year through. Papers are due about every two weeks, with topics ranging from free responses, to assigned writings, to prose analysis. Preparation for the A.P. test is also involved, with weekly exercises and sample exams.

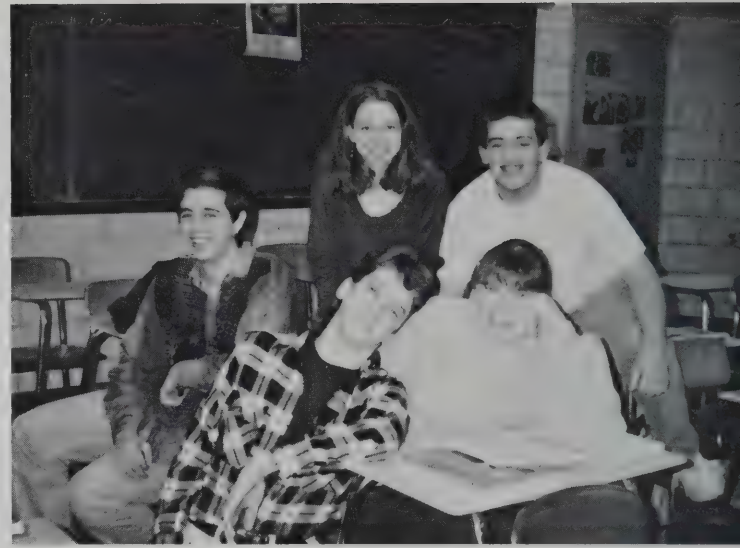

"I love to teach this class. At the A.P. level, I am able to discuss my favorite literature in depth and ready fresh, critical responses. The class helps the students to develop an appreciation of fine literature and become acquainted with the vocabulary of literary criticism," Ms. Maguire teacher

A.P. History / Mock Trial

Do not expect to simply sit back and listen to receive an "A" or a "B" in Advanced Placement U.S. History. The course provides a challenge as well as the satisfaction of learning through hard work. The assignments and projects include a major project once every term, requiring a large amount of research and time. A major component of the course is short oral presentations along with the more traditional page-length essays. Note taking and cooperative efforts are some other aspects of the course, whose ultimate purpose is to enable its students to take the A.P. exam in May. Although A.P. U.S. History is a tough course, it all pays off in the end with a rewarding sense of accomplishment.

-Karen Richard, past student of A.P. U.S. History

The Mock Trial team is composed of motivated and concerned students who are interested in our legal system. Each member receives a booklet of information outlining the "mock" case and rules for the contest. After preparing for several months, the team will compete against other schools from around the state. Using the included affidavits, laws, and attorney-coach advice, the team presents its case before a real judge and receives a rating. The winner moves on to the further rounds of the competition, but the most important and lasting effect from the Mock Trial experience is a better and more complete understanding of the U.S. legal system.

The Leominster High School Academic Decathlon is a notable organization which provides a challenging and enlightening experience for the students at Leominster High.

After preparing for several months, the team goes to competition. Upon arriving at the testing site, students report to designated testing rooms. From then until noon, contestants take forty minute tests in the following subject areas: economics, science, mathematics, fine arts, social science, language and literature, speech, essay, personal interview, and super quiz. Once the tests have ended, students anxiously await the results. Finally, the moment of glory comes for the first, second, and third place finishers among the one thousand competitors. The top school in Massachusetts moves on to national competition.

Future Problem Solving

At the 1993 State Bowl with Mass FPSP Director Ann Hoyle

This group of dedicated seniors has been involved with the Future Problem Solving Program since the eighth grade. Concerned about our world, the senior team has addressed such pressing topics as the arms race, world hunger, the tropical rain forest, health care, and drugs. Using the six type Future Problem Solving process, the team has gone to the state bowl twice and to the Regional Bowl every year. Gaining a second and, later, a third place trophy in solution selling, the senior team has brought honor and distinction to Leominster High. Inspired by the efforts of the senior team, many other Future Problem Solving groups have formed among the underclassmen and even in the elementary schools. The program not only encourages team work and creativity, it exposes the members to topics they might not have otherwise covered.

The National Honor Society is very beneficial not only for the students involved, but for the activities and people our service helps. Such examples are blood drives in school, tutors are available for those that need the help, and there are many fundraisers. The money raised is donated to important charities. We also award scholarships of a substantial amount of money to outstanding NHS students. This year we are involved with the Heart Association Phone-athon that hopefully will be a success.

Rally

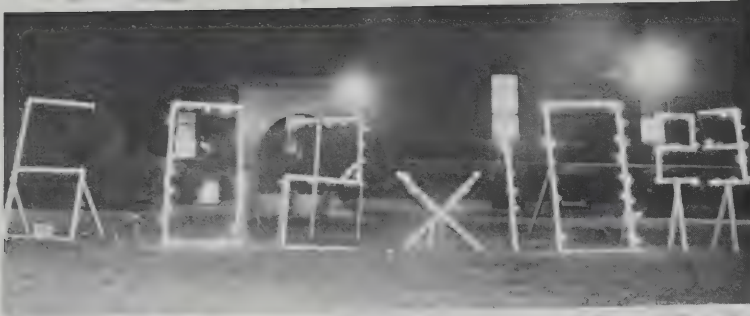

We're too sexy!!!

The 1993 Turkey Day Rally was truly one of the most exciting events to be seen this year. Highlights included the mock cheerleaders, mock football players and of course the mothers who showed our cheerleaders a thing or two.

Reflection

This seasons girls X-Country team was small, we had an unimpressive record, and we were barely acknowledged. Despite all of this, a very close group of seven was able to have a lot of fun together and I was very proud to represent such a great team. I know I'll never forget our yearly trips to Herbert's or our spaghetti supper before districts. I'm sure mile repeats and hill workouts will remain with us all for a very long time. The hard work paid off and all of us who ran at districts had incredible races.

"The class of 1994 has left quite an impression on us."

To Mrs. Bayley, she saw young and small Freshmen. As Seniors, she witnessed a lot of growing up. Mrs. Bayley still thinks of us as Sophomores because she cannot believe we are going into the real world. She feels the class of 1994 is very together and has always had much respect for each other. Mrs. Bayley wishes the class of 1994 an excellent future and wishes us the best of luck.

When the class of 1994 began high school life as freshmen, we left an impression on many people. To Marilyn Fava, she felt we were shy and immature with a few wise guys and know-it-alls. Now that we are Seniors, she views us as more mature and outgoing with the same few wise guys. She will always remember her fifth period '94 Seniors. She feels the class of 1994 will achieve a great deal. Marilyn Fava hopes that the class of 1994 will be happy, healthy, and successful in their future. She will miss us all very much.

From Freshmen year to Senior year, Ms. Gauthier has been impressed by the diversity among the members of the class of 1994. Some class members have taught her about "pits", slam dancing, and "stage diving"; others have shown her their interest in classic works of literature like Jane Fyre and Withering Heights; and still others have shown their enthusiasm about competitive bike racing, football, and field hockey. As we leave Leominster High School, she believes we will be remembered for the richness of our diversity and our ability to create a "class spirit" that embodied our diverse nature. She has been extremely fortunate to know many of us personally. She will miss Kim and Amy's daily visits, the discussion with many of us that centered around life's happiness and life's difficulties. "Each of you can choose to have a successful life. Each of you must strive diligently to achieve your goals. Be happy members of the class of 1994, and enjoy the tomorrows of your lives!"

When the class of 1994 entered Leominster High School as Freshmen, they carried a reputation with them from the earlier grades. To Mr. Sweatman it was a very positive one. As Seniors ready to move on, he feels no disappointment in our achievement. He personally ranks his class as a "super class" Scholastically, athletically, and socially. He will always remember the seafood buffet, which was the Best ever; "thank you Julie," arguments with Meg and Janet in STS, the Halibut Point Trip, reactions to his tie collections, and of course the great Mole Debate of 1993. He suspects that twenty years down the line our class will have more than an average number of very successful, happy people. He hopes we let our teachers arm us with what we will need to carry on our education and become productive citizens. "When you have children of your own, teach them well. Let them know about your successes and mistakes. I hope you will instill an appreciation for an education in them so that they might do even better than you. For the class of 1994, that will be one tall order!"

As the class of 1994 progresses on to the future, Mr. Healy can recall when they first entered Leominster High School as Freshmen. He remembers them as being very immature. Now that we are Seniors, he feels that we have made a tremendous growth of maturity, academically and emotionally. He will always remember Carolyn's definition of Stacy's hair in Algebra I and freshmen basketball beating Fitchburg. He will also remember the debates with Kristine in Algebra II. He thinks the class of 1994 will succeed in the future because they have managed to get through the difficult times. He hopes the class of 1994 will be adequately prepared for whatever direction they decide to go in. He hopes that he has had some impact along the way.

The first image that comes to Mr. Rheault's mind when thinking of the first high school days of the class of 1994 was that of a large group of kids in a giant sand box. We were noisy, unfocused, boisterous, and very 'freshmen-like.' A specific memory that Mr. Rheault has had illustrates the 'freshmen-like' image. It was one morning before school and a small freshman boy came up to him in a whiney voice and said, "teacher that kid over there took my school bag and won't give it back!" IT WAS A LONG YEAR!! Now that we are seniors he views us as being self-motivated, mature, wonderful adults. It has been his pleasure to accompany us on our journey through high school!!

When the class of 1994 began life in high school, Miss Ciccone saw us as young, impressionable Freshmen, who were ready to please others. Now that we are graduating, she sees us as very independent, friendly, mature and caring young men and women. She hopes the class of 1994 has been encouraged by the faculty of L.H.S. to be successful in all endeavors. She wants us to do well because we are her future. She will reflect on this class as being very unique. Miss Ciccone wishes us the best of luck.

When the class of 1994 began life at Leominster High School as Freshmen, Mrs. Kogurt adopted us by becoming one of our class advisors. She got the impression that we were really involved as a class. Now that we are graduating, she feels that we have such great spirit that we will be very successful. She will always remember the great times she was able to be a part of, especially the Junior Prom, which was a beautiful success! She hopes we will all lead a very happy, healthy, and successful life. Mrs. Kogurt is very glad she had the opportunity as an advisor to be part of the class of 1994 which makes it hard for her to say good-bye. She wishes all the Best of Luck!!

When the class of 1994 began life as Freshmen in Leominster High School, they had left an impression on many people. To Syke Tocci that impression was a good one. Now that we are leaving the feeling is the same which makes it hard for him to see us leave. He will always remember the Class of 1994 as being Well-behaved, friendly, and athletically inclined. He feels the Class of 1994 will have a very successful future because we are a class "above average." Syke Tocci wishes the Class of 1994 a successful life with the Best of Luck!!

"LIFE'S LITTLE INSTRUCTIONS"

Treat everyone you meet like you want to be treated Watch a sunrise at least once a year* Never refuse homemade brownies* Strive for excellence, not perfection* Never waste an opportunity to tell someone you love them* Leave everything a little better than you found it* Keep it simple* Think big thoughts but relish small pleasures* Become the most positive and enthusiastic person you know*
Have a firm handshake* Make new friends but cherish
the old ones* Keep secrets* Wave at kids on school buses* Be there when people need you* Never underestimate the power of love* Drink champagne for no reason at all* Live your life as an exclamation, not an explanation* Don't be afraid to say, "I made a mistake"* Don't be afraid to say, "I don't know"* Compliment even small improvements* Keep your promises (no matter what)* Marry only for love*
Rekindle old friendships* Count your blessings*
Call your mother.*
